

Digital Skilling by NSDC Training Partners

Innovative Digital Skilling

NSDC and the skill training community have been working together to find innovative approaches to minimize the disruption caused by the Covid-19 pandemic. With the lockdown in effect and no clarity as to how long this will continue, it has become a significant challenge for skill training programs.

Although the advent of e-learning in this ecosystem is a desire to achieve but limits of our target market, geographies, tech-savvy have also been the restricting factors in getting them into practice.

The present scenario has driven us to pursue alternatives to these problems very vigorously and finally, we accomplished the mission through contributions by various stakeholders.
